

Kesha Banks

Dallas, Texas

1-814-450-2837

kbanks@larsontexts.com

Kesha Banks is an Associate Consultant for Big Ideas Learning who engages her audience by showing customers how Big Ideas provides solutions to meet their needs. In addition, she offers exceptional customer service by studying and responding to customers in a timely matter while traveling from coast to coast to deliver high energy and impactful trainings and presentations.

Kesha has a Bachelor of Science in Chemistry from the University of California at Santa Barbara and a Master of Education degree with an emphasis in Environmental Science from Concordia University – Portland Oregon. Her experience includes twelve years as a secondary science teacher and one year as a graduate Chemistry TA. She has also worked in sales for Bank of America, Citibank, and as a Foreclosure Counselor for Fannie Mae.

Career Highlights

- Presentations for “Save My Home “ Fannie Mae Roadshows, Dallas, TX 2011
- National Organization for the Professional Advancement of Black Chemists and Chemical Engineers (NOBCChE) Dallas Youth Sponsor 2009
- Presentations for the California League of Middle School Conference (CLMS) , Burlingame and San Diego, California, April 1997 and 1998
- Expert Witness for the California State Board of Education for the creation of the California State Science Standards, 1997
- UCLA Marine Science Teacher Expert , Catalina Island, 1996

Awards, Publications, and Associations

Recipient

Lifetime Membership Award, PTA, 2014

Recipient

Bank of America Community Spirit Award, 2010

Recipient

Toyota Math/Science Grant, 1998

Recipient

NBC News Weather Station Grant, 1998

Recipient

US West / Quest Technology Grant, 1998

Recipient

JPL Mars Rover Project, 1997

Recipient

Rohm & Haas Research Fellowship, 1992

Publication

Journal of Physical Chemistry, 1992.

Publication

Journal of Physics Review, 1992

Member

National Council of Teachers of Mathematics

Member

NOBCChE